

To Whom It May Concern

Dated: 24 May 2011

Shubhra Chaturvedi had joined PhotoSensitive a few years ago for a basic photography workshop. This exposed her to the world of light. Her explorations with the camera have led her on to a journey that has taken her wandering the landscape and her immediate surrounding in search of imagery that she tries to include in her expression as a painter. Shubhra's work shows a lot of promise and we wish her luck in her future explorations with the medium.
